

MIKE M. PAPPAS, D.O.

806 East Main Street
Riverhead, New York 11901
917-494-0914
mpaps123@yahoo.com

EDUCATION

NY College of Osteopathic Medicine
Old Westbury, NY
Sept. 1996 – May 2000

Residency

Columbia/Cornell- New York Presbyterian Hospital
Physical Medicine & Rehabilitation
New York, NY
July 2001- June 2004

Chief Resident
July 2003- June 2004

Internship

Nassau University Medical Center
East Meadow, NY
July 2000- June 2001

EMPLOYMENT

Current office locations:

Pappas Physical Medicine & Rehabilitation, PLLC
31-35 31st St.
Astoria, NY
March 2010 - Present

Suffolk Rehabilitation Medicine, PLLC
(DBA Suffolk Spine and Joint Medical)
2005- Present

Current office locations:
806 E. Main St.
Riverhead, NY
July 2008- Present

220 Fort Salonga Rd.
Northport, NY
March 2010- Present

3075 Veterans Memorial Hwy
Suite 101, Ronkonkoma, NY 11779
August 2016-Present

Hospital / Skilled Nursing Affiliations

Mount Sinai Medical Center New York, NY Dept. Physical Medicine & Rehabilitation Clinical Instructor	January 2008-Present
Carillon Nursing & Rehabilitation Huntington, NY	Sept 2004 - Present
Peconic Bay Medical Center Skilled Nursing Riverhead, NY	April 2008 – Present
Kings Harbor Multicare Center Bronx, NY	March 2010- Present

BOARD CERTIFICATION

Diplomate American Board Physical Medicine & Rehabilitation
Certificate #8019

RECENT COURSES

Completed SEAK course on disability and file reviews
February 2017

ABSTRACTS

A.R. Bicknese, K.C. Vitale, M.M. Pappas, A. Varma, P. Ramachandran, S. Taiwar, A. Sharma. Primitive Bilateral Corticospinal Projections Are Maintained Along With Motor Function If One Cortical Hemisphere Is Ablated During Pathway Development, 26th Annual Meeting, Society of Neuroscience, 1996, Volume 22, pg.1947.